Terms of Use for Google Groups

1. Eligibility and Objectives

This mailing list is to be used exclusively by members of the University of Tokyo Microeconomic Theory Workshop or those interested in and registered for the workshop.

This emailing list is intended to disseminate various information related to the Microeconomic Theory Workshop and other events.

2. Code of Practice

Participants in this mailing list are expected to conduct themselves with courtesy and respect toward fellow members.

Defamatory, offensive, or improper language must not be used when posting.

3. Posting Guidelines

- Any member can post a message, which will be posted to all members after being approved by the moderators.
- Each member's email address will remain private except for moderators.
- The information to be distributed is updates on the Microeconomic Theory Workshop, relevant events at the University of Tokyo or nearby Universities. In addition, announcements of academic events likely to be of interest to Microeconomic Theory Workshop participants can be included, as well as recruitment or financial support.
- Any promotion such as a specific book or academic paper should not be included.
- Postings containing confidential information should be excluded.
- Members should post using their associated email address to indicate their affiliation.
- The content of the posts will be approved by the moderators after evaluation based on these guidelines. The moderators, however, are not to be held accountable for the information.
- Posts should be relevant to the topic and off-topic posts should be avoided.

4. Security Management

When sharing attachments or links, members are expected to take security precautions. This includes practicing anti-virus software and using reliable sources of information.

5. Moderation and Operation

The moderators of this mailing list will monitor violations of these terms and take appropriate action when necessary. Members must follow the moderators' directions.
